

Saville productions

commercialdirector/biography

scott speer

Scott is a film director and music video director based in Los Angeles. In 2006 Speer received the MVPA Award for Directorial Debut of the Year for the music video of "Stars" by Switchfoot. In 2007 he won his first MTV Video Music Awards Latin America in México, for his work with "Bella Traicion" by the Mexican pop sensation Belina.

In addition to directing, Speer produced and second unit directed the feature film The Beat, an official selection of the 2003 Sundance Film Festival, and remains deeply involved in independent films. In 2010 Scott directed The LXD episode "Duet".

In 2012, he directed Step Up Revolution (2012), his feature film-directing debut.

Scott is also a novelist and has written the trilogy "Immortal City" a young adult novel about supernatural beings, "Natural Born Angel" and the concluding book "Battle Angel."