

Saville productions

documentary director/biography

daphne matziaraki

Daphne Matziaraki is a documentary filmmaker based in the San Francisco Bay Area. She is born and raised in Athens Greece. She directed, produced, photographed and edited award winning "4.1 Miles." She has lived and worked as a filmmaker and journalist in Europe, Africa and the United States. She has a Master's in documentary filmmaking from UC Berkeley's Graduate School of Journalism and a Master's in International Relations from the University of Bristol, UK.