

Saville productions

Frank Sun

Frank is a New York City-based director and cinematographer of Chinese American heritage. With over 15 years of experience in the entertainment industry, he has worked across a range of mediums, including commercial, film, and television.

Frank has directed multiple episodes of award-winning shows, such as CBS' Survivor, and his commercial work has been featured in Times Square and around the globe. His clients include renowned brands such as Peloton, Lexus, Google, Nike, MaxMara, and Norwegian Airlines, among others.

He has served as cinematographer for feature films that have been acquired by major streaming platforms like Amazon, Netflix, and HBO, and his music video and art work has been showcased at prestigious institutions such as SFMOMA, Zaha Hadid Gallery, and Cooper Hewitt, Smithsonian Design Museum.

Drawing from his extensive background in cinematography and photography, Frank brings a unique perspective to his visual storytelling. In addition to his creative talents, he is also fluent in Mandarin and conversational in Spanish, enabling him to connect with diverse audiences worldwide.

Frank is passionate about travel and sharing stories that cut across culture and time.

Frank's Reel:

<https://wdrv.it/40cadca90>