Pedro Allevato

Pedro Allevato is an award-winning director and visual artist also known as Sugar Blood. He is based in London, UK. He has a great deal of experience working with mixed media, 2D, flat 3D animation and visual storytelling in studios across the globe, including New York, Los Angeles, Vancouver, Turin and London.

Pedro's work is driven by good story-telling. It brings together his extensive experience with elegant design and obsession with the beauty of movement. His personal style is defined by a seamless flirtation between 2D, flat 3D animation and graphic design.

Throughout his career, he has been honing his skills, becoming a specialist in Design Direction, Character Animation and CGI film production as well as directing and creating his own films and illustrations.
